they should be encouraged to closely monitor their activities that the increased cost will be much less than the damage caused by rapid climate change -- the intergovernmental